

the original enactment of the Child Care and Development Block Grant—programs that have made an enormous difference for America's poorest families.

Her work with the Child Welfare League of America as Director of Public Policy also proved vital for the well-being of America's children and families. And her 8 years with the Clinton Administration allowed Mary to play a central and critical role in the many federal policies that affect children.

Her untimely death is a tragedy. Her colleagues will miss her and her family and closest friends will mourn her loss. To them, I extend my profound condolences and empathy. But in honor of Mary, let not one of us ever forget the meaning of her life's work. Mary Bourdette believed that every child and family, no matter how poor or meager their existence, deserved the chance to live a better life. She was a model for those who wish to dedicate themselves to improving the lives of others. And for that I am grateful. Our nation is indebted to her for what she believed in and what she tried so hard to accomplish.

TRIBUTE TO NANCY KERR

HON. JOHN J. DUNCAN, JR.

OF TENNESSEE

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, September 7, 2006

Mr. DUNCAN. Mr. Speaker, Nancy Kerr, the founder of the first hospice program in Tennessee, was killed in a tragic accident on May 1.

I knew Nancy Kerr for a big part of my life. She was a staunch conservative and a strong supporter of both my late father and me.

She did not just talk about compassionate conservatism; she lived it.

She comforted more than 500 patients as they neared death and was doing this right up to the day of her death at age 80.

She was a wonderful woman, and this Nation is a better place today because of the love and kindness she gave to so many.

Sam Brown, a friend of mine, wrote a great article about Nancy Kerr for the August 27 edition of The Knoxville News-Sentinel.

I would like to call this article to the attention of my colleagues and other readers of the RECORD.

NURSES'S WORLD WAR II WORK LAID
FOUNDATION FOR FUTURE HOSPICE CARE

(By Sam Brown)

It could have been a Hollywood movie.

She was a young, stunningly beautiful English nurse who cared for wounded British and American troops in World War II. Several dying soldiers called her an angel. Some said she looked like Katharine Hepburn. She was 18 and a student nurse when Allied forces stormed the beaches of Normandy, France. She remembers D-Day well, comforting many wounded and dying soldiers who were brought back from the front lines. After the war, she married Jim Kerr of Knoxville after saying she would never marry an American. She became the first hospice nurse in the state of Tennessee.

This is not a Hollywood script. It is the story of Nancy Wilkie Kerr.

She was born near Kuala Lumpur, Malaysia, where she spoke Malay and Chinese before she learned English. Kerr was 13 in Southampton, England, when World War II started. She lived through German bombing raids and recalled when three British Spitfires flew up to meet 20 German bombers. The air raid sirens and the screams of the wounded were etched in her memory. She wanted to help, so she became a nurse. During the war, she worked 12-hour shifts for six weeks and got two days off. Kerr once said, "I look in the face of death every day."

It was invaluable experience for what was ahead in her life.

In 1979, Kerr helped establish the first hospice program at Fort Sanders Hospital. It was also the first program of its kind in Tennessee.

I was anchoring television news for Channel 6 in 1979 and heard about the hospice program. It intrigued me. I had never heard of Elisabeth Kubler-Ross, who founded the concept in England. Hospice is a medieval term meaning a stopping-off point for weary travelers.

In 1969, Kubler-Ross wrote the book "On Death and Dying." She presented the premise that the terminally ill go through various stages from denial to acceptance as death closes in. Hospice allows them to face death with dignity. Hospice tries first and foremost to relieve pain with medication, to prepare the patient for death both mentally and physically and, if possible, to let the patient die peacefully at home.

Kerr felt the terminally ill should not die in a sterile hospital room. In a span of 25 years, she comforted more than 500 families as their loved ones went through the stages of death with dignity. Shortly after the Knoxville program started, I did a two-part TV series on hospice with Kerr.

She told me, "You become a definite part of each family with which you work. Of course you get emotionally involved, but we try to aim for what we call a 'good death' where they are tranquil and accepting. No joyous or euphoric but rather accepting."

Kerr died in May at the age of 80, just before her death, she was still doing what she did best—nursing the sick and terminally ill. And comforting their families. The tributes poured in at her funeral.

Patty Loveday wrote in the guest book, "She helped us through two long months of Mother's illness. We could never have brought Mother home without her. She was truly a wonderful nurse. We felt like she was part of the family."

Nancy's number three son, Chris and his wife, Karen, carry on her legacy with their company, Tender Hearts Support Services, which provides companionship for the elderly with a hospice approach. "We are trying to keep Mother's mission alive. She was truly a remarkable woman," Chris Kerr said.

Ironically, Nancy Kerr did not die in a hospice environment. On the afternoon of May 1, 2006, she was killed instantly in an auto accident on Alcoa Highway.

A friend at her funeral perhaps said it best. "Heaven has gained a new angel."

175TH ANNIVERSARY OF SARCOXIE, MISSOURI

HON. ROY BLUNT

OF MISSOURI

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, September 7, 2006

Mr. BLUNT. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to recognize the 175th anniversary of the City of Sarcoxie, located in Jasper County, Missouri.

The region where Sarcoxie is located was acquired by the United States as part of the Louisiana Purchase in 1803. One of the first known inhabitants of the area was Chief Sarcoxie, head of the Turtle Band of the Delaware Tribe of Indians. Thackery Vivion became the first permanent settler to Jasper County when he built a log cabin and began farming near Sarcoxie Spring in 1831, and Sarcoxie soon became the first town in Jasper County. Gene Taylor, who served in the United States House of Representatives from 1973 until 1989, was born near Sarcoxie, and the Gene Taylor Library and Museum is located on the town square.

I am proud to congratulate the City of Sarcoxie and its citizens on the 175th anniversary of this historic city.

HONORING JUKE VAN OSS ON 55 YEARS OF BROADCASTING ON WHTC 1450

HON. PETER HOEKSTRA

OF MICHIGAN

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, September 7, 2006

Mr. HOEKSTRA. Mr. Speaker, today I rise in honor of Juke Van Oss for 55 years of broadcasting on WHTC 1450 in Holland, Mich. On Aug. 12, Juke celebrated 55 years of service to the station and his community.

Juke began his career in radio during World War II on the Pacific Front, transporting a radio for his infantry troop and transmitting codes. When the war ended, he returned home and continued to foster his interest in radio, obtaining his amateur license and later securing a job as a radio engineer for WHTC at 27 years old.

It was not until one morning that the announcer failed to arrive on time that Juke was able to sit at the microphone. An instant favorite of listeners, Van Oss began hosting his own morning show, and for the past 45 years he has hosted "Talk of the Town." Juke has become a household name and a local celebrity in the Holland area through his years behind the mic at WHTC.

When Juke started broadcasting in 1951, the United Nations headquarters officially opened in New York, "I Love Lucy" debuted on CBS and Bobby Thomson of the New York Giants hit the "Shot Heard 'Round the World" game-winning home run against the Brooklyn Dodgers to win the National League pennant.

Mr. Van Oss is not only a radio personality, but a community servant. He has served as a member of the Saugatuck Schools Board of Education and Village Council, including three years as Mayor, as well as President of the Chamber of Commerce and a seat on the Region 8 Criminal Justice Planning Council.

Mr. Speaker, please let it be known that on this Sept. 7, 2006, that the U.S. House of Representatives acknowledges the achievements of Mr. Van Oss and wishes him the best in his upcoming years of broadcast.

BEAM ME UP

HON. THOMAS G. TANCREDO

OF COLORADO

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, September 7, 2006

Mr. TANCREDO. Mr. Speaker, let me get this straight: The Bush administration won't let the democratically elected President of Taiwan, a staunch ally and longtime friend of the United States, so much as stop to fill his airplane with gas in Alaska.

Yet they didn't hesitate to issue a visa to Muhammad Khatami, the former President of Iran—a country the U.S. has classified as a state sponsor of terrorism for nearly the last 30 years.

What can we expect next from the Rocket Scientists at State Department Mr. Speaker?

Fidel Castro throwing out the first pitch at the next Yankee game?

Kim Jong I spending the weekend at Disneyland?

Sudanese President Omar Al-Bashir giving a guest lecture on human rights at Cal-Berkeley?

Hugo Chavez playing a round of golf at Army Navy?

As our old friend used to say Mr. Speaker—Beam Me Up.

IMMIGRATION REFORM

HON. MIKE PENCE

OF INDIANA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, September 7, 2006

Mr. PENCE. Mr. Speaker, in my lifetime, no issue has so disturbed our domestic tranquility than immigration reform.

Thanks to the leadership of this House, the American people are convinced we have a serious problem with illegal immigration and the American people know the Senate bill granting amnesty to 12M illegal immigrants is not the answer.

There are many ideas of how we can move forward. Senator KAY BAILEY HUTCHISON of Texas and I have proposed a compromise that would:

—put border security first and reject amnesty;

—after 2 years of border security only, our plan would set up a new guest worker program using American employment firms outside the United States;

—illegal immigrants would be required to leave the country and apply at these Ellis Island Centers by submitting to a background check and health screening before being issued a 2-year guest worker visa. They also would have to pass an English course to renew it; and —tough employer sanctions would drive companies and employees into this new system.

Pence-Hutchison puts border security first, and once that is accomplished, it creates a new guest worker program outside the United States without amnesty and without creating a new federal bureaucracy.

Some in Congress think we have done enough. I believe we must do more. Even in this contentious election year, the American people expect us to "be strong, courageous and do the work" they elected this Congress to do.

A TRIBUTE TO THE BRAVERY OF NORTHAMPTON COUNTY SHERIFF DEPUTIES JOE MAGEE AND COREY JACKSON

HON. G.K. BUTTERFIELD

OF NORTH CAROLINA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, September 7, 2006

Mr. BUTTERFIELD. Mr. Speaker, on Wednesday, July 12, 2006, the swift, determined and heroic actions of Northampton County Sheriff's Deputy Joe Magee and Northampton County Sheriff's Deputy Corey Jackson preserved the peace and protected the citizens of our community in eastern North Carolina.

During the incident, Deputy Joe Magee, a 28-year law enforcement veteran, and Deputy Corey Jackson, a 3½-year veteran of the sheriff's department, bravely took control of an enraged, armed suspect in the courtroom of the Northampton County Courthouse.

Facing a charge of murder, the suspect flew into a rage when Superior Court Judge Alma L. Hinton rejected a request to dismiss his lawyer. Despite being shackled, the suspect managed to wrestle a gun from a nearby state correction officer and fired shots.

Deputy Corey Jackson forced the suspect's arms toward the ceiling after a corrections officer was struck by a bullet in the shoulder and Deputy Joe Magee shot the inmate in the abdomen, ending the threat.

These decisive, heroic and selfless actions preserved the lives of those present and met the highest call of duty. It is my privilege today to commend the officers for their outstanding efforts and for acts of courage and quick thinking that saved the lives of the people they are sworn to protect.

Mr. Speaker, on behalf of the citizens of Northampton County, North Carolina, whom it is my privilege to represent, and on behalf of the United States Congress, it is my honor to recognize and thank Deputy Joe Magee and Deputy Corey Jackson. Their tireless dedication and exceptional bravery serve our community and our Nation well.
